

GOV. FORT JOLTS THE POLITICIANS IN FIRST MESSAGE

Jersey's New Executive Declares Many Rich Sinecure Jobs Must Be Wiped Out.

CRIME AGAINST MORALS.

State Will Save Thousands of Dollars Every Year by Reforms Suggested.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 21.—Gov. John Franklin Fort gave the politicians a hard jolt in his inaugural message to the Legislature to-day by advocating the abolition of a number of rich sinecure jobs. In distinctly plain talk he recommended that several State boards, carrying large salaries, be wiped out, while the consolidation of other boards was asked by him on the ground that the work accomplished by these could be done at a saving of many thousands of dollars a year.

The Governor also advocated the passage of a public utilities bill, reform of the corporation law, more stringent enforcement of the excise laws and the laws governing automobiles; simplification of the judicial system and the retirement of Judges upon one-third or one-half salaries; separation of municipal from State elections; and reform of the present grand jury system.

He asked also that the Governor be given power to remove municipal officers, and declared against the presence of lobbyists in the legislative halls.

INAUGURATION DEVOID OF SHOW.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 21.—John Franklin Fort was inaugurated Governor of New Jersey in the Taylor Opera House at noon to-day. At the request of the new Executive the ceremony was devoid of military display and the absence of troops was regretted by the great throng of spectators.

The inaugural ceremony was opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. James M. Ludlow, pastor of the East Orange M. E. Church, of which Gov. Fort is a member. At the conclusion of the prayer Gov. Stokes presented the new Governor to President Hillery, who in turn presented the members of both houses to the new Executive.

The oath of office was then administered to Judge Fort by Chief Justice William S. Gummere. As soon as the new Governor had been sworn a signal was given to a battery stationed in the rear of the State house and the Governor's salute of seventeen guns was fired.

After the great seal of New Jersey had been turned over by the retiring Governor to the new head of the State Gov. Fort delivered his inaugural address.

The ceremony closed with the benediction, which was pronounced by the Rev. Dr. W. S. Jones, rector of St. Michael's R. C. Church of Trenton.

POSSE LYNCHED FUGITIVE WHEN HE SHOWED FIGHT.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 21.—News has reached here to the effect that a posse of Morgan County citizens captured and lynched Walter Cole, the negro who killed Walter Langley, a Cincinnati Southern bridge watchman, at Annihilator, Tenn. The negro showed fight and the posse opened fire, riddling his body with bullets.

BINGHAM HITS AT METZ AND LITTLE TIM

Declares Comptroller and Alderman Treat Police Department Badly.

"I think it a damned shame that the city of New York, particularly the Department of Police, should be treated as it has been by 'Little Tim' Sullivan and Comptroller Metz," to-day declared Commissioner Bingham in the course of a trade against the slayer of police appropriations in the Board of Aldermen and his arch-foe at the head of the Comptroller's office. He went on:

"They are constantly calling on us—these men—with their demands for $1,000 policemen to act as bodyguards and otherwise. It seems to me that the Department of Police should have an adequate return for what it gives and that is all that we have asked from these officials."

Could Oust "Little Tim."
"Mr. Metz does not think I am what I should be and Mr. Sullivan says that the Department of Police won't get any."

Living from the Board of Aldermen as long as he is in the city. Mr. Sullivan is there for two years, having been elected for two years, but each time a large number of voters from Mr. Sullivan's district voted for him. Mr. Sullivan could very easily be voted out of his present office of Vice-Chief of Police.

Mr. Bingham then announced that within a week he was going to the sinking fund commission with a request that the Pastime Athletic Club be ousted from the occupancy of a first floor of a building owned by the city between Ninetieth and Ninety-first streets, east of Avenue A.

"I don't see why the Pastime Athletic Club should be there at all. The location is an ideal one for a station for the harbor police, who have quarters in a worthless shack at the foot of East Forty-second street."

No Place for Launches.
Mr. Bingham declared that in his opinion the building now standing on the Ninety-first street plot could be bought for $1,000, thus releasing the club from the premises. At the present time he said, the police owned nine launches, but had no place to store them. Two of them cost $500 each and ought to be stored for a third could be repaired for $250, while the rest, he said, were unseaworthy.

"The new uptown location I am after," said Mr. Bingham, "is not only inexpensive, but it is highly advantageous to the city, being between Ward's Island and Blackwell's Island and not far from Randall's Island. Accidents occur here frequently, and from this point launches could cruise the shores of Queens Borough and Brown.

Former Congressman Timothy D. Sullivan, and the man behind "Little Tim" Sullivan, is said to be keenly interested in the success of the Pastime Athletic Club, of which he is said to be an honorary member.

JACKSON THREATENS RECEIVER HIGGINS

Declares He Will Oust Him from Brooklyn Bank, but Gets Defiant Reply.

(Special to The Evening World.)
ALBANY, Jan. 21.—Arguments were heard to-day by Supreme Court Justice Betts on a return of an order secured by Bryan Harbrouck, one of the receivers appointed for the Brooklyn

Bank, directed against Charles M. Higgins, a stockholder, to show cause why a contract made by Mrs. Higgins with former Deputy Attorney-General Charles A. Dolson, to act as counsel in the receivership, should not be carried out.

This contract, it is said, gives Dolson a large percentage of the business handled by the receivers.

Attorney-General Jackson, after the court hearing advised Mr. Higgins of the order and through the press. This the receiver denied and said he had been trying to meet Mr. Jackson for a month for the purpose of calling his attention to matters which he believed the Attorney-General would not sanction.

"You need not worry me," retorted Jackson angrily. "My next step will be to apply for your removal."

"Go ahead," said Higgins. "I have nothing to fear."
